MASSAGE BARS

Lush Massage Bars are the best way to end a quiet night in. Reach for your favourite massage bar after a 'phone-off-the-hook, candles burning, nice glass of wine and chocolates, watching your favourite film sort of an evening. Although you can use them on yourself to give your skin a super-moisturising helping of natural butters, ideally there will be two of you present. Frankly, they are designed to be used in pairs. (Pairs of people not pairs of bars.) Make sure you get your shoulders massaged first because your partner might enjoy it so much, he or she might refuse to give you a go.

Each one is made with a very specially blended perfume. Mark Constantine, our boss, founder and top perfumer, is very fond of his massage bars and puts ever so much attention into getting them perfect – which is why we have scents like Fever and Each Peach hanging around in bars, so to speak, instead of bottled and selling for the small fortune that any other perfumer would demand.

Place a bar between your palms, allow the butters to melt, put the bar down and apply the molten fragrant butters smoothly, firmly but sensually to your partner's muscles. (Do not grab hold of your partner's collar bones as that is really irritating.) Do press your thumbs gently into any muscle which feels tense; that's great, that is and will earn you lots of brownie points. Have fun.

available early FEBRUARY

MANGE TOO

Ever since, in our of our creative team meetings, Auntie P complained that a new massage bar we were testing 'didn't taste good enough' Mark has been devising perfumes which also work as flavourings. The Mange Too bar (because it's a massage bar and it's also edible) is flavoured and scented with the Honey Trap vanilla, sweet orange and peppermint essential oil combo. "It's not designed to be eaten, but if it should come into contact with your tongue, it won't put you off whoever you're kissing at the time. It's got chocolate (only 2%), honey, and bananas - but with all that cocoa and shea butter it's not good for your cholesterol levels so we strongly recommend that you use it for a tasty massage, not a tasty meal."

2462 100g/3.5 oz.

Ingredients: Cocoa Butter (Theobroma cacao), Shea Butter (Butyrospermum parkii), Perfume, Mango Butter (Mangifera indica), White Chocolate, Fresh Bananas (Musa paradisiaca), Honey (Mel), Peppermint Oil (Mentha piperita), Vanilla Absolute (Vanilla planifolia), Sweet Orange Oil (Citrus dulcis), "Limonene."

amazonian

This is the most substantial of our massage bars: it was made for a very substantial woman working at a Lush shop in Australia. She grabbed our (formerly substantial but now much more svelte) boss by the collar and demanded a big, sexy massage bar and that's exactly what she got. Amazonian is the bar for women with a bit of character; it's made with sensuous patchouli oil and tangerine to calm nervous tension. If you find you've been frightening off mild-mannered chaps, a massage with an Amazonian bar should do the trick. Of course, you may have to kidnap one first.

262 200g/7.0 oz.

Ingredients: Cocoa Butter (Theobroma cacao), Shea Butter (Butyrospermum parkii), Palm Kernel Oil (Hydrogenated Palm), Coconut Butter (Cocos nucifera), Tangerine Oil (Citrus reticulata), Ylang Ylang Petal Oil (Cananga odorata), Patchouli Oil (Pogostemon cablin), Orange Blossom Absolute (Citrus dulcis), "Benzyl Alcohol", "Benzyl Salicylate", "Eugenol", "Geraniol", "Isogeraniol", "Benzyl Benzoate", "Farnesol", "Limonene", "Linalool", Perfume, Fresh Orchid (Cymbidium).

it's a Pleasure Treasure

The sister to the Soft Coeur, It's a Pleasure Treasure is our current favourite bar. It's small, but lasts for a long weekend's worth of long massages, perfect for packing in the overnight bag. Its gorgeous fragrance is exactly the same as the one in Gorgeous moisturiser, gently revitalising orange blossom and euphorbia-inducing neroli. That'll perk up your lover at the end of a long, working week. It also tastes pretty good too; should you find your lips in contact with areas you've been massaging this is always a bonus. Very, very highly recommended.

2367 30g/1.0 oz.

Ingredients: Cocoa Butter (Theobroma cacao), Olive Oil (Olea europaea), Orange Blossom Honey (Mel), Calamine, Evening Primrose Oil (Oenothera biennis), Avocado Oil (Persea gratissima), Perfume, Hibiscus Extract (Hibiscus rosa-sinensis), Almond Oil (Prunus dulcis), Coconut Butter (Cocos nucifera), Wheatgerm Oil (Triticum vulgare), Grapeseed Oil (Vitis vinifera), Orange Flower Absolute (Citrus dulcis), Neroli Oil (Citrus amara), Myrrh Resinoid (Commiphora myrrha), "Geraniol", "Farnesol", "Limonene", "Linalool", Hydroxyacetone.

"This is one of my all-time favourite Lush scents. The orange blossom and neroli merge in a sensual, harmonious heart, longing to be melted into the skin."

Claire Bunyan, Milton Keynes.

SLEEPY HEAD

Over the years at Lush we've devised several fragrances with practical properties; not only do they smell gorgeous but they work too. The Waving Not Drowning Bath Ballistic was one of our first sleep-inducing fragrances and you'll also find it in Sleepy Head. After all, when you're lying in your bed unable to sleep, you don't always want to get up and have a bath; you might fancy reaching over to your bedside table (or book pile) for your Sleepy Head bar, and giving your neck, shoulders and scalp a soothing, lavender, ylang and fennel massage which will help your mind rest so you can sleep soundly. This is a godsend. You can also use it on kids, but cats don't like the way it makes their fur sticky.

2368 90g/3.1 oz.

Ingredients: Cocoa Butter (Theobroma cacao), Shea Butter (Butyrospermum parkii), Horsetail Herb Extract (Equisetum arvense), Lavender Oil (Lavandula hybrida), Ylang Ylang Oil (Cananga odorata), Fennel Oil (Foeniculum vulgare), "Benzyl Salicylate", "Eugenol", "Geraniol", "Benzyl Benzoate", "Farnesol", "Limonene", "Linalool", Perfume.

* Occurs naturally in essential oils
